
ECHO

Everyone has weaknesses, and everyone makes mistakes. That's part of life. We shouldn't resign ourselves to failure, though, and we shouldn't keep making the same mistakes; we should try to do better. The best thing to do with faults and failures and mistakes and weak areas is to recognize them, be honest about them, and then try to overcome them if we can.

The first step is to face the facts. If we can admit our problems to ourselves, then we can try to do better. The second step is to be honest with the Lord about ourselves and ask for His help. If we are willing to bare our souls to Jesus, He will step in and help as only He can.

Another good thing about this arrangement is that Jesus always offers us help as only He can. He tries to help us learn from our mistakes, tells us how to do better next time and encourages us to try again.

Scanning Historical Documents

Many of our historic documents have been moved to the Butler County Historical Society for safe keeping. They are also being scanned to preserve them digitally. If you'd like to lend a hand in the long process, let Jeanne Walther know. No experience is necessary and someone will assist you. You are encouraged to work in pairs, so bring a friend. Put in some time whenever you can.

Whatever happened to the quilt frame?

The majority of quilt frame that was in the basement on Front St. has been in storage for the past 4 years. Elaine Weiss had a few parts at her home. After getting all of the pieces reunited, and checking around to see if anyone wanted it (it takes up a LOT of space), it has a new home. Lynn O. one of the Partners in Prime quilter/crafters has adopted it and, better yet, she has a quilt in progress. Lynn has also been making the small quilts for Children's Hospital and she even spent the afternoon planting tree saplings with us at MetroParks.

This could be the new look for the Echo, but I hope not. My computer crashed again and I got a MacIntosh. The learning curve is a little longer than I expected. It is not as it was years ago. I'm going to have to work on it in the coming months. Eileen
